

show&tell

the art of language

The Zimmer Children's Museum

PROUDLY PRESENTS

show & tell

the art of language

AN INTERNATIONAL ART EXHIBIT

April 30 – June 12, 2009

Curator: Victor Raphael

Exhibit Producer: Trevor Bryant

Linda Vallejo

ARTIST

Channeling Spring

NEWSPAPER COLLAGE DIGITAL PRINT

29" x 21"

Reading the newspaper is a daily, mundane event, with images appearing in an incongruous mixture of toxic photographs, deadly headlines, frivolous advertisements and commercials, sexualized sales pitches, and mixed political messages. Yet, we are attracted to the printed word and are compelled to read and become influenced by the broad reach of media. The dichotomy of these unending images and curiously opposing thoughts creates a mixture of humor, disbelief, guilt, and horror, in part creating the postmodern psychological condition and conundrum. Censored: Channeling Spring asks us to reconsider our relationship with nature and the impact of our environmental footprint.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Linda Vallejo consolidates multiple, international influences gained from a life of study and travel throughout Europe, the United States and Mexico to create paintings, mixed media sculpture and site-specific installations that consider themes of beauty, as well as consumption, war, excess, and pollution. Her work has been exhibited at the Los Angeles Natural History Museum, Craft and Folk Art Museum, Carnegie Art Museum, Armand Hammer Museum, Bronx Museum, Museum of Modern Art New York, San Antonio Museum, Mexico City Modern Art Museum, and the Patricia Correia Gallery; and reviewed in "ArtNews," "Art Business News," "Southwest Art," and the "Los Angeles Times." Vallejo has received awards from the Durfee Foundation, UCLA Chicano Studies Research Center, Comisión Femenil de Los Angeles, California Community Foundation, Brody Fund Arts Fellowship, and the California Arts Council.

www.lindavallejo.com

TRAVEL

Sunday, March 6, 2005

m/travel

HOTHOUSE BEATERS Paphiopedilum orchids get another boost from the first spring crop of Paphiopedilum, a Dutch orchid grower in Jersey, after a record of France.

Channeling spring

Known for its orchids and floral festivals, the British-flavored isle of Jersey is awash in colorful blooms.

Victoria Village, Jersey snow for the January morning I arrived in Jersey to see a 40-square-mile landscape of colorful flowers in winter's front yards of

Photo: James Armstrong/Photo.com
Flowers are mixed for specialists.

WEEKEND ESCAPE

Fault-finding mission

By foot and by car, sampling the mysteries of the San Andreas fault in the Coachella Valley desert. Page 4

VIETNAM

An empire re-imagined

The lost maritime kingdom of the Cham people comes alive on a tour of its temples and its coastal lands. Page 8

NEW YORK

The vertical vacation

When the Big Apple's weather is less than balmy, the Time Warner Center proves an entertaining refuge. Page 11

HER WORLD

They don't count kilos

Weighing in on a French author's secrets to slenderness, which provide a little bit of envy and quite a bit of angst. Page 7