Self Help Graphics & Art (SHG) is the leading non-profit visual arts center serving the predominantly Latino community of Los Angeles and our mission is to drive the creation of new work by Chicano and Latino artists through fine art printmaking and multiple visual art forms. For 43 years SHG has organized one of the most popular Día de los Muertos events in Los Angeles and perhaps the oldest Day of the Dead commemoration in the country. This program is unique in that it provides the community with a season of activities through out the fall, to celebrate and prepare for Día de los Muertos.

Self Help Graphics & Art's 44th Annual Día de los Muertos is made possible by our artists, volunteers and board of directors with sponsorship from California Community Foundation, Los Angeles County Arts Commission, Department of Cultural Affairs, City of Los Angeles, Councilman Jose Huizar 14th District, The East Los Angeles Society of Film & Arts, Grand Park, the National Endowment for the Arts, Supervisor Hilda Solis, First District, Beneficial State Bank, Bank of America, Liberty Hill Foundation, Mitchell Printing and Velasco Print Atelier. Self Help Graphics & Art also recognizes the important contributions of our partners: LURN (Leadership for Urban Renewal Network), Team Friday, Building Healthy Communities - Boyle Heights, CalArts Community Arts Partnership Digital Media Project, Casa 0101, Legacy LA, Mendez Learning Center, Mujeres de Maiz.
